

SEBI SECURITIES AWARENESS BOOKLET

Investor Rights, Responsibilities, and Code of Conduct

1. The Indian Securities Market Ecosystem:

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) is the statutory regulatory body established under the SEBI Act, 1992 to protect the interests of investors in securities, promote the development of, and regulate the securities market.

2. Do's for Securities Market Investors:

- Deal only with SEBI-registered brokers, sub-brokers, and registered intermediaries.
- Complete your Know Your Customer (KYC) compliance through authorized KYC Registration Agencies (KRAs).
- Keep your contact details (mobile number and email ID) updated with your depository participant (DP) and broker.
- Always check Contract Notes issued by your stock broker within 24 hours of trade execution.
- Maintain your own record of Demat Account transactions and verify monthly Consolidated Account Statements (CAS) issued by NSDL or CDSL.

SEBI SECURITIES AWARENESS BOOKLET

Don'ts for Investors and Dispute Redressal

3. Don'ts for Securities Market Investors:

- Never share your Demat or trading account login credentials, passwords, or PINs with anyone, including your broker or relationship manager.
- Never issue blank signed cheques or delivery instruction slips (DIS) to your broker.
- Do not blindly follow tips, advice, or recommendations received on WhatsApp, Telegram, YouTube, or social media.
- Do not invest money that you cannot afford to lose or borrow money to trade in speculative derivatives / F&O.
- Over 90% of individual traders in the equity Futures and Options (F&O) segment incurred net losses according to SEBI study.

4. Investor Redressal Mechanism & Arbitration:

Investors who have disputes with listed companies, brokers, or intermediaries can utilize:

- SCORES 2.0 portal for automated routing of complaints.
- SMART ODR (Securities Market Approach for Resolution Through Online Dispute Resolution) platform at <https://smartodr.in> for online conciliation and arbitration.
- SEBI Investor Helpdesk: 1800-266-7575.